Stampede Announces Strategic Alliance with OmniMount

Full Line of OmniMount Mounts to be Offered by Stampede

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 19, 2007 — Stampede, a leading value-added distributor of presentation and home theater technology, today announced a strategic alliance with OmniMount to carry the full line of OmniMount mounts, including all wall and ceiling mounts, horizontal and portrait, as well as projector mounts.

Stampede expects the OmniMount line to be readily embraced by its dealers because the line is designed by installers, for installers. Additionally, dealers' margins will be protected because the mounts will be available through authorized distribution only, with no Internet dealers. OmniMount's all black, steel mounts meet Underwriters Laboratories standards for safety and are UL listed.

"Our alliance with OmniMount is great news for our dealers," said Kevin Kelly, Stampede president and COO. "With access to OmniMount's full line of top quality mounts, they are sure to find the right mount for every job. This is one more way to ensure our dealers will find everything they need for every job right here at Stampede."

About OmniMount

For almost 30 years, OmniMount has honed its skills as a pioneer and leader in the field of audio mounts. Starting with the company's tradition in audio mounts for hanging speakers from walls or ceilings, today's range of OmniMount products includes speaker stands, TV mounts, flat panel mounts, and audio/video storage racks and stands for hi-fi and TV components. For two-channel audio, home-theater-in-a-box, or even the latest in flat panel displays, OmniMount's team of industrial designers, engineers, factories and quality control standards are recognized throughout the consumer electronics industry for producing the most innovative and quality products available.
