Stampede Launches First International Catalog at NSCA Expo Catalog highlights company's expanded growth and presence in value-added distribution

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 16, 2006 — Stampede, a leading value-added distributor of presentation and home theater technology, today launched its first international catalog at the NSCA Expo in Las Vegas, Nev.

Available exclusively to NSCA Expo visitors during its premier week, the 120-page full-color catalog showcases the latest products from top-name manufacturers alongside the many value-added services Stampede offers dealers through its extensive markets and regions.

As part of its renowned value-added services, Stampede has made its product catalog available for use by its dealers. Through this service, dealers are able to purchase copies of the high-quality, professional catalog at a very affordable price for their own promotional needs. Dealers simply affix a sticker with their contact information on the unbranded catalogs and distribute them to their corporate, government and education customers.

"This catalog enables dealers to dramatically widen their product offering to their customers without the cost and hassle of creating their own catalog," said Mark Wilkins, president and CEO. "It also reinforces our position as a one-stop shop for all of our dealers' audio, video display and accessory needs."

NSCA Expo visitors are encouraged to visit Stampede at booth 3336 to pick up their own free copy of the 2006 Stampede catalog.

Known for its value-added distribution, Stampede is a leading distributor of presentation equipment including LCD/DLP projectors and flat panel displays. Stampede provides a complete range of brand name presentation equipment to a variety of audio/visual, computer, home theater resellers and integrators in the United States, Canada and Latin America.
