STAMPEDE NAMED EXCLUSIVE UNITED STATES DISTRIBUTOR OF KEN-A-VISION AV/IT PRODUCT LINES

New exclusive distribution agreement takes effect January 2, 2012.

AMHERST, NEW YORK, December 20, 2011 — Stampede Presentations Products, Inc., North America's largest value added distributor of professional audio video (ProAV) solutions, has been named the exclusive United States distributor of Ken-A-Vision Manufacturing Inc.'s AV/IT line of award-winning document cameras/visualizers, specialty cameras and camera accessories, according to a joint announcement made by Stampede President & COO Kevin Kelly and Ken-A-Vision Director of Distribution & OEM Projects Robert De John.

"No other company has the market expertise, dealer network and established end user customer relationships to help us achieve our long-term sales objectives than Stampede," De John said today. "To help us fully take advantage of this expertise, we have decided to consolidate our existing distributor program, effective January 2, 2012, and sell all of our AV/IT products through Stampede. I am confident that Stampede's value added support programs will continue to provide our customers with the highest level of care and respect that they have come to expect from Ken-A-Vision."

According to Robert De John, and for over 65 years, Ken-A-Vision has created innovative and award-winning educational products for students and teachers around the world. The company's leading products include its FlexCam, Vision Viewer and Video Flex document cameras and visualizers.

"We are proud and honored to be chosen to be the exclusive United States distributor of this extremely innovative product line," Kevin Kelly said today. "Stampede's strength in the K-12 education market makes us the ideal way for Ken-A-Vision to reach its core customer base while simultaneously bringing their product line to end users in other vertical market channels."
